5 Easy Ways Women Can Attract Guys

There are plenty of books on how to attract boy friends. A woman doesn't have to commit the information from a bunch of books to memory in order to learn how to attract guys though. Being appealing to men isn't usually a problem when it comes to the draw a woman has on a man. However, it might be a different story if a woman is actively pursuing men of her choice. Being able to tell if a guy is genuinely interested, or if he just talking to you because he made a bet with his buddies that he couldn't buy you a drink, can be challenging. It's alright for a woman to walk up to a man and start up a conversation, but it's more common for a woman to attract boy followers instead. How to attract guys you actually want to talk to can be a bit tricky. The 5 easy ways described below can be carried out by any woman. They might come easier for some people, especially for people who aren't already sort of timid. Even if you tend to be the shy type, trying to employ at least some of the following ways will help to bring more men towards you.

5 easy ways:

1. Smile

A lot of men will try to determine if a girl is approachable from a distance. They don't want to risk the chance of rejection, so they tend to play it safe this way. If a man feels you aren't approachable, he may not even try to strike up a conversation with you. Smiling can ease the worrisome mind of a man who can't quite figure out if he should take a chance and talk to you.

2. Relax your body language

Women who cross their arms across their chest come across as being either insecure about themselves or irritated. Most men don't wish to start talking to a woman who falls into either of these categories. So it's important to keep your body language relaxed and open.

3. Own your power

When it comes to attracting men, it's important to own your power. You don't have to be aggressive or forward, but you do need to exude confidence and self-assurance.

4. Be confident

Confidence is contagious, and it's one of the most attractive qualities a woman can have. If you're confident, men will be drawn to you naturally.

5. Be yourself

Finally, be true to yourself. Don't try to be someone you're not in order to attract men. They'll be attracted to you for who you really are.
Move with confidence

If you are going to wear high heels, know how to walk in them. These can make a woman seem taller and much more graceful. Men usually like to see a woman who is sure of herself. The amount of self-esteem a woman has can also be displayed by the way she moves when she sits. Try to keep your hands from covering your face. This movement can make you appear to be overly timid.

Make yourself presentable

Looking nice never hurts to improve the prospects of attracting guys. It will depend on the function you are at, but dressing appropriately and tactfully should be maintained for any occasion. Arriving to a gathering in a wrinkled dress that drags across the floor when you walk can make you seem like an untidy person. Also, some women might be able to pull off the wind blown look with their hair, but not all.

Be energetic

Men love energy, especially in a woman. You can exude energy without appearing to be overly giddy or too bubbly. Women can be animated when they talk and this is also a form of energy that attracts a lot of men.

Coming up with techniques on how to attract guys can take some fine tuning. Not every woman is out to attract boyfriends on the first date. It should be an enjoyable experience.
